Entrepreneurship is booming! The United States has seen an unprecedented bump in new business starts, evidence of a transitioning economy still reeling from the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. At weVENTURE Women’s Business Center (WBC), a record 333 start-up businesses and an additional 147 individuals in the pre-venture phase reached out for support in Program Year 21–22. Clients took advantage of our free business coaching services, educational webinars, seminars and peer groups, including a start-up peer group and four cohorts of our Pathways Business Launch Class, two in Spanish and two in English.

2022 was supposed to be a transition year for weVENTURE WBC. After two years of operating at higher coaching capacity as part of our COVID response programming, we were preparing to scale back our operations by the end of the summer when funding from the CARES Act expired. However, in the spring of 2022, it was clear that demand for our services was still elevated thanks to Florida’s booming economy, the growth of new start-up businesses and the many challenges impacting operations for established businesses—supply chain interruptions, inflation and a tight labor market. In fact, we were averaging 12–15 new client inquiries per week in May, when I was contacted by our friends at Truist about a grant opportunity. The Truist Foundation has focused their giving priorities on helping underserved small businesses, including women-owned businesses. We received great news in July that we were selected to receive a $75,000 grant that would allow us to keep two part-time business coaches on staff for an additional year! Thanks to this generous gift, and the support of other community partners, our clients did not experience any gap in services, and we have been able to continue offering programs like the CEO Peer Group and Pathways Business Launch Class.

2022 also happened to be the 15th anniversary of the weVENTURE WBC program at Florida Tech! Since opening in 2007, weVENTURE WBC has served over 15,500 unique clients and continues to be the leading voice and resource for professional women on the Space and Treasure Coasts.

The following annual report is just a snapshot of the impact this program has had on our economy during the last program year. The legacy of weVENTURE WBC continues to ripple throughout the community via the continued success of the clients we serve.

Best, Kathryn

“The CEO Peer Group has taught me how to be data-driven versus intuitive in the way I run my business, resulting in greater efficiency and gross profitability.”

“The weVENTURE CEO Peer Group value lies in the peer experience of sharing business successes, challenges and ideas among a variety of owners and under the objective guidance of seasoned business coaches. While the time commitment can feel daunting and sometimes it’s difficult to find a direct corollary to financial gain, I do know that it’s critical to extract my mental focus out of daily business operations and expand my perspective into strategic thinking. The Peer Group structure forces me to do just that and find commonality with other women who often experience similar obstacles and have wisdom to offer along my professional path.”

—Kara Wood, Principal, District Planning Group

“And women it is important for us to be supportive of one another. The best way to do that is out in the community. I love being a part of this peer group because each person brings a different perspective and experience to draw from. We are all in different industries with different strengths. It is nice to see how problems get solved collectively while we benefit individually.”

“The IGNITE 360 Program assisted Evans Center at a critical time when stabilization was needed for the business. The tasks became more challenging due to staffing changes and COVID community challenges. The IGNITE 360 processes strengthened the leadership team and helped give us the discipline to meet and communicate effectively amongst the team, to ask focused and difficult questions, analyze our data and hold ourselves accountable. The IGNITE mentors encouraged us to understand our customers, their interests, and needs and then create new and more effective ways to communicate our products and events.”

“ATHENA International has figured out the secret intersection between personal and professional development for women. Intentionally focusing on hard skills such as advocating fiercely and constantly learning, Kathryn facilitated a program that helped leaders chart a course toward self-discovery and mastery. Women will walk away empowered as process matter experts, able to transfer those skills into any other area of their lives.”

IMPACT SUMMIT

On Aug. 26, weVENTURE WBC hosted the IMPACT Summit Business Leadership Development Conference at the Hilton Garden Inn Cocoa Beach Oceanfront. Professional women from across all industries attended this networking and training event, featuring inspiring speakers and breakout sessions, followed by a networking luncheon in the beautiful oceanfront dining room.

The opening session featured a keynote address from Shari Elia, Global Head of Business Development for Amazon, talking about ways companies of all sizes can foster a culture of innovation. Participants then picked breakout sessions to attend, based on three tracts: Personal Development, Communication or Business Strategy. The morning concluded with a panel discussion, featuring two local entrepreneurs who dove into the Shark Tank, as seen on TV, and emerged with golden tickets!
weVENTURE WBC IGNITE 360 Business Mentoring program was featured on the cover of Everything Brevard in March 2022. The magazine included a three-page spread on how the program helped local entrepreneurs through the pandemic. The digital edition can still be viewed here: view.flipdocs.com/?ID=10020483_740272
CHEF’S KITCHEN CASE STUDY
UPSTART COCOA PILOT PROGRAM

OVERVIEW

In December 2021, Chef’s Kitchen was enrolled in the IGNITE 360 Program as part of the Cocoa Economic Development process. The history of the business can be captured by a collaborative work of the owners and one of the mentors, as shared here:

“The heartbeat of Chef’s Kitchen started way back in our great-grandmother Odell’s kitchen. The love for food and cooking was passed to our grandmother, Lillie, our mother Theresa, and eventually our chef, Michael. From Saturday breakfasts and Sunday dinners to cook outs on the beach, the sweet smell of soul food filled the atmosphere as the family gathered together for great food and conversation. It wasn’t just for holidays either, so much love, patience and fresh ingredients went into each meal on a daily basis.

Michael fostered his love for food by watching Julia Child and Food Network. He explored all types of foods, including desserts, Asian, Cajun, gourmet and, of course, Southern cuisine. After many years of experience in the food service industry at various chain restaurants and at the Hilton, Michael set out to share his talent and passion with his community.

On Aug. 11 the family lost their grandmother who inspired and prayed for the restaurant. Four days later, on Aug. 15, Chef’s Kitchen officially opened its doors to the community. Armed with prayer, a few family secret recipes, and great love and support from family, friends and community, Chef’s Kitchen is the little restaurant that could. Chef’s Kitchen has big plans for the future.”

OPPORTUNITY

Michael Blackwell brought to the process extensive experience in the industry and joy and commitment to the new business. His sister Lacy Bussey brought a level of innovation, interest and technology as well as an equal commitment to Michael and Chef’s Kitchen.

From the commencement of the IGNITE program, Michael and Lacy amazed the IGNITE Mentor Team with their enthusiasm and willingness to explore new avenues concurrently with running a restaurant in the challenging COVID environment. Together they identified specific learning objectives and goals for the six-month program.

CHALLENGES

One of the most significant needs, of which there were several for the Chef’s Kitchen IGNITE engagement, was the development of a sound financial platform for decision making. With many hours of weVENTURE support and time with a subject matter expert, the Chef’s Kitchen owners developed a chart of accounts, entered the data for almost a year of operation and are preparing a P&L for the business. POS systems were installed, and along with the financial guidance received, equipped the owners with the knowledge and confidence required to understand financial reports. This, in turn, allowed them to make better decisions, whether it be to evaluate a new entree, consider changing hours of operation or invest in new equipment.

Mentors with experience in the food industry were a resource for practical as well as conceptual feedback during the engagement, focusing on food sourcing, cost of raw materials, etc. The owners, especially Chef Michael, graciously received the feedback and incorporated the guidance into their decision making and food/menu selections. Chef’s Kitchen continues to grow its reputation for home cooked soul food and is developing Asian fusion offerings for its customers.

OUTCOMES

Marketing and social media had been an important aspect of the business prior to IGNITE. Creativity has been a characteristic of Chef’s Kitchen, particularly in the menu offerings as well as the social media marketing environment. With the aid of mentor expertise and provision of social media aids, Lacy’s creativity and approach to marketing for the business has become even more effective/efficient and quantifiable. Social media is a significant factor in customer awareness for Chef’s Kitchen.

The underlying principle of the IGNITE Program is to aid and assist business owners to develop multifaceted tools to make informed decision making. We observed the changes in Chef’s Kitchen, developing their existing passionate commitment in their business with a broader understanding of financial structure and focused marketing to be even more successful in the future.

At the conclusion of the 6 month program, weVENTURE WBC was happy to report back to Cocoa City Council on the progress Michael and Lacy had made, and the council unanimously approved the $7,500 forgivable loan to Chef’s Kitchen, which will fully fund projects outlined in the IGNITE 360 final report.
